

NIH Clinical Center
On the frontline of medical discovery
National Institutes of Health

Researchers at the National Institutes of Health is seeking Parkinson's disease subjects who are between 21-80 years of age and otherwise good health to participate in various research studies.

We invite you to take part in an investigational research study Genetic Characterization of Movement Disorders. We are seeking subjects who have been diagnosed with Parkinson's disease.

If you have Parkinson's disease and would like to consider taking part in important research studies at the NIH. There is no cost to participate. Participants will return to their own physician's care after taking part in a study.

NIH will provided travel and hotel, if needed.

For more information, please call
Mae P. Brooks
301-496-4604 or
1-800-362-3479
Fax 301-496-6609
E-Mail: brooksm@ninds.nih.gov

